Waterbury, for Logan, pitched good, steady ball until the eighth, when two three-sackers and a single were made off him, netting the visitors two runs. He steadied down, however, in the next inning and prevented further score. He received good support, the locals making but three errors, none of them costly.

The features of the game were the fine base running of the infants, a splendid running catch by Hahn, a good catch by Briseno and a lightning stop by Ramey. The umpire.
